On April 16th, 2019, 8 cadets from Maritime Academy Charter School visited Mystic Seaport, Connecticut. The Mystic Seaport Museum is the nation's prime maritime museum. It was first established in 1929 in order to collect and save the quickly disappearing artifacts of "seafaring past." The Museum's motto is to "inspire an enduring connection to the American maritime experience." Cadets had the opportunity to visit and explore the "Charles W. Morgan," which was the last wooden whaling ship in the world. Next, cadets visited the "Mayflower II," which is currently under renovations and is expected to set sail back to Plymouth, Massachusetts in the fall of 2019. The adventure of sleeping on a ship was considered by cadets as a once in a lifetime experience. Cadets learned how to sail and eventually sailed on their own. They also learned how to tie knots and use a harpoon for whaling. Best of all, cadets expressed interest in returning with their families.

Ms. Brazell's 7th grade science classes worked together to improve the garden in the West yard. Students did incredible job working together to clear the grounds, removing grass and debris, and constructing 3 raised garden beds. As of today, there is one completed flower bed. Soon there will be planted vegetables and herbs to enjoy throughout the summer.
